

HOBOSSEXUAL

"Ladies and gentlemen, this is what rock and roll is all about. Hot, stinky, sweaty, head-banging, ass-shaking rock and roll. These are some badass sons 'a bitches."

- Brent Stecker, Guerrilla Candy

"The hilariously named Hobosexual's songs aren't funny at all—they're full-on, fuzzed-out classic-rock beasts."

- Megan Selig, The Stranger

Biography

It all started in 2010 in a basement over diet cokes, cheap cigars, shag carpet and a couple of 1970s Shure Vocal Master PA speakers cranked to the point of imploding.

Since emerging from that fateful basement, the duo that is Hobosexual, comprised of Ben Harwood/ Hobo Ben (guitar, vocals) and Jeff Silva/ Portuguese Bonham (drums) have managed to leap from their shag carpet, inner city roots to becoming one of Seattle's up and coming rock n roll tour de forces. They've also proven themselves an endlessly impressive aesthetic to other aspiring bands and artists by way of the often interpersonal and hard fought mantra of, "A Band Living In It's Own World."

After selling through over 1,000 copies of their debut album in under a year's time (and without a single out of state performance), the duo recently completed work on their second highly anticipated studio LP Hobosexual II (TBA), a repressing of the local hit Hobosexual: Live at CCT on cassette (2011) and are very close to releasing their patented second wave of endlessly re-tweeted, self-released, self-produced Hob O Sexual: Series 2 brand action figures (series 1 sold out in early 2011).
